

Meet Your Instructors

Eiichi Yoshida - Art Classes

I have been teaching watercolor painting and pencil drawing at Foster Framing and Fine Arts since 2001. I attended Osaka University of Art in Japan. I also work as a freelance oil painter. I practice Calligraphy (both Japanese and English), as well. Please come and learn drawing and/or painting with me.

Yone Nakamura - Origami

I have been teaching the Origami class at Foster Framing and Fine Arts since January 2006 and have been teaching this same craft since 1975. I learned Origami from a friend and the rest is self taught. I also work as a Porcelain Doll instructor. I focus my craft interests on doll making and origami.

Sueko Provencher - Origami

I have been teaching the Origami class at Foster Framing and Fine Arts since January 2006 and have been teaching this same craft since 1975. I learned from my co-instructor Yone and the rest is self-taught. I also work as a Porcelain Doll instructor.

They both say Origami is fun and well worth trying. It is fun and creative.

Kanoko Tanaka - Obi Kazri

I have been teaching Obi-Kazri at Foster Framing and Fine Arts since March 2004. I am self-taught. I also work as a freelance artist off-base. My creative focus is on Obi making. Please see me at my class.
